New York, Nov. 21.—Poland announced today that she will formally supportthe Chinese Communist offorts to unsent the Chinese Nationalist delegation to: the United-Nations.

The Polish delegation demanded that the U.N. Secretariat circulate a letter received last week from the Mao Tectung regime at Pelping declaring that the Nationalist delegation no longer had a right to speak for China.

The U.N. Secretariat had refused to act on the communication on the ground that the Chinese Reds had not been recognised by the U.N. as a government.

The Polish move opened the way for U.N. action, since the Polish Government took on the sponsorship of the communication as its own document. The letter from the Polish delegation, handed to U.N. Secretary-General, Mr Trygve Lie, was signed by Stefan Wierblowski, chief of the delegation. The Poles called attention in their letter to their declarations in the U.N. on the Chinese situation. They have recognised the Communist regime along with other members of the Slav bloc.—Associated Press.

in the number of ships on active duty has been due to two main reasons: first, the temporary shortage of trained manpower and, second, the need, common to almost every country in the world today, of stringent economy. Nowadays a warship costs many times more to operate than ten years ago. When their immense commitments are considered-commitments which include such "mercy trips" as that recently undertaken by the cruiser, Belfast, to rescue over two hundred men, women and children from a Chinese ship stranded on a coral reef near Prates Island—the operational fleets may be thought to be small. But it must be remembered that there are behind. them the many ships in the reserve. This

"fleet behind the fleet" does not court publicity. From time to time, there is a report that such and such a warship is "going into reserve after being refitted."

IN considering the size of Britain's postwar Navy, many people are apt to think of it only in terms of the actual seagoing fleets. This is making a serious mistake. Although the number of Britain's active warships is admittedly smaller than at the start of World War

Two, behind them, however, are the great resources of the reserve fleet, in which are large numbers of ships standing by for duty when required. The reduction

Then it drops out of the news, later to reappear unexpectedly at some home or overseas station. In actual fact, there are in reserve, or in the process of reducing to reserve, some four hundred ships of all categories, more than ninety percent of which having been built since the outbreak of the last war. Among them are four battleships of 35,000 tons-Duke of York, King George V, Anson and Howe. There are eight cruisers, four aircraft carriers, about sixty destroyers and over thirty frigates, whose primary duties are escorting convoys and hunting enemy submarines. There are eighty minesweepers of various types and a host of other fighting ships. Large numbers of these units are in a high state of readiness, and, given crews, could be at sea again in a matter of weeks. This applies particularly to the smaller ships, so important for countless duties. More than two hundred of these ships have been thoroughly relitted since the end of the war. Thus it will be seen that people are badly mistaken when they think that Britain's reserve fleet consists of old ships which have had their day and are now lying forgotten in rivers and backwaters. Actually, the reserve fleet is the Royal Navy's number two priority, second only to the provision of trained men.

NICHTMARE FOR AMERICAN BOXING PROMOTERS AS ALL PROSPECTS DIM

By CORNELIUS RYAN

What had promised to be the pleasantest winter in a decade in professional boxing has become instead a nightmare to the men who control the ring business in the USA.

As the summer drew to a close, the prospect could not have been rosier. Rocky Graziano was reinstated and won back his accustomed popularity with a spectacular knockout of Charley Fusari; Jake LaMotta was scheduled against Marcel Cerdan in a big-money outdoor match; Ezzard Charles was proving himself a fighting champion.

Ray Robinson was planning to vacate the westerweight throne to try for the middleweight title, a move which would benefit both classes, since Ray's duperiority has killed interest in the welters, and there seemed to be a good crop of youngster on the way up through the preliminaries.

Then things began to go, Graziano is moving with mowrong. LaMotta withdrew from lasses sowness in signing for his September defence against his next bout, and it is clear he Cordan, claiming a sore shoul- is hoping to meet another wel-at Detroit. That caused more bad publicity for boxing, which already was suffering a let down in p public interest because Madison Square Garden, the showcase of boxing, was given over to a LaMotta seized upon an excuse to get out of his December 2 date at the Gardenwhich had been reserved for the postponed Cerdan matchand his defection brought new attention by sportswriters to the growing tendency of top boxers to refuse to meet worthy opponents.

Featherweight champ Willie Pep has been blistered in many columns for his obvious fear of challenger Sandy Saddler.

The Cardiff?

NO! SAYS PETER LOVEGROVE

When Cardiff went down to London's all-conquering Wasps at Sudbury in typically dismal November weather, it was the Welsh champions' third reverse in five matches, the other two having been drawn.

Swansea proved themselves six points better at the Arms Park, Northampton, finished a penalty goal ahead, and the Wasps were a goal to the good, while the honours were shared with the two Varsites.

All this may not sound very alarming-most clubs would be proud of such results-but it has struck the rugby world with amazement.

SETS GOAL AT ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Washington, Nov. 21.—A world in which "no man need go hungry, or ill clad, or without a home" was the goal held up today to the Food and Agriculture Organisation of the United Nations.

The goal was pictured by Norris E. Dodd, Director-General of the FAO, at the opening of its annual conference. Representatives of 48 nations are here to tackle the job of how to increase food production in some countries and how to handle unmarketable surpluses in others.

He said:

Mr Dodd thus summed up an FAO report issued over the week-end, which said harvests Field Marshal Montgomery In the northern hemisphere have has come here to speak at the turned the tide against world starvation. The report added that production still is behind world needs.

The Director-General mentioned only briefly, in his opening talk, the proposal to get up a world bank, or clearing house, as a means of getting surpluses from one area into another area where food is scarce.

He said "perfection is not claimed" for recommendation Chicago, Nov. 21.—Relatives as to how to meet world food

Warning By Calwell's Opponent

Melbourne, Nov. 21.-Dr C. I. McLaren-Immigration Minister Arthur Calwell's opponent in the coming election—warns that if Australia persists in her present "isolationist policy," he can imagine the day "when we will be poor white relations, looked down on by our rich and powerful Oriental neighbours."

McLaren, born in Japan and with 30 years experience in the Far East, expressed his opinion in an open letter addressed to women of Victoria in the Melbourne Argus.

He announced he will stond on the sole issue of immigration and contemplates a "fundamental attack on race and colour prejudices" in his compaign for a seat in federal parliament. McLaren says he will bring
